

Troilus Gold TLG.TO, CHXMF on OTC, C$1.14, $0.862

This looks like a great entry point for Troilus Gold which has been in a corrective phase since its peak at the start of September. This correction, which has taken the form of a bullish Falling Wedge, has more than fully unwound its earlier overbought condition and has brought it back into a zone of strong support and also to the support of its rising 200-day moving average and in addition to the supporting trendline of a larger uptrend. The volume pattern is bullish with the Accumulation line climbing for 6 weeks now and recent lows are not confirmed by momentum. So, there is considered to be a high probability that it will begin a major new upleg from about here.
