

Troilus Gold Stands Out

MID-CAP GOLD STOCK AT POINT OF BREAKOUT...Streetwise Reports

originally published Tuesday, December 15, 2020

Many Precious Metals stocks are right now signaling that a major new sector uptrend is about to start. We don't have time to look at all of them in detail of course, but a number of them are worthy of a closer look and amongst these is Troilus.

We are ahead of the Smart Money here because we went for Troilus at about the price it is now early this month, and on the 7-month chart below we can see the heaviest volume for over 2 months yesterday as they scrambled to get stock on board before the next major uptrend which all factors suggest is imminent. Everything about this chart is bullish – the correction that has taken the form of a bullish Falling Wedge and brought the price back down to support and to a rising 200-day moving average, price and moving averages are in bullish alignment and bunched together, the volume pattern is bullish and the Accumulation line has trended higher as the correction has unfolded and lastly momentum is improving as the MACD indicator heads back up to the zero line.

As if all that isn't enough, we also have the Bollinger Bands pinching in to an extraordinary degree as shown on the additional 7-month chart below, which indicates a degree of "compression" that usually triggers a sharp runup. We don't often use Bollingers because most of the time we can figure out what's going on from the direction and alignment of the moving averages, but they certainly work and at times like this can throw a lot of light on what's going on. These Bollingers show that Troilus is ripe for a breakout and potentially sharp advance, and the big volume yesterday is evidence that Smart Money have "read the tea leaves" and drawn the same conclusion and are scrambling to board the train before it leaves the station.

Of course, if Troilus is about to break higher, then it is most likely to at a time when other PM stocks are doing likewise, and looking around at other stocks across the sector, we see that many of them are poised to break higher into major new uptrends, which is hardly surprising given that Biden and the Fed are set to declare war on the dollar (in the case of the Fed continue war on the dollar). We will look at as many of them in more detail as time permits.
